UK Outlook for Wednesday 12 May 2021 to Wednesday 26 May 2021:
Confidence is very low for this outlook as is typical of late spring. A mixture of sunny/clear spells and showers, especially likely at first, but an increased chance of more unsettled weather with stronger winds and longer periods of rain arriving from the Atlantic compared to normal. Temperatures probably starting off cooler than average, but will most likely be around to above average overall.
